This end terrace country house could be renovated to create a 5 bedroom, 2 bathroom home, with beautiful views in a peaceful spot. To the side of the house is an old threshing circle (era) and this provides parking and gives access to the single garage to the rear of the house, with enough space to park a car in and to have a workshop area as well.

To the front of the house there is a paved area to sit and relax. The main door opens into a large lounge with traditional fireplace and to either side of the fireplace, the original storage cupboards. Off this room is one of the ground floor bedrooms with traditional style window. From the lounge an archway leads through to another large room which at present has no natural light, although it would be easy to add a window or patio doors to one end to provide light and access to the era and garage.

We go through this room, past under stairs storage and into a good sized double bedroom. From the internal room patio doors open into a further large room with high sloping ceiling which would make a great kitchen. The bathroom is off this room (with bath, basin and WC) and a door leads to a small enclosed patio area.

The stairs to the first floor have at the top a room on either side (bedrooms 3 & 4) and a step through the middle of the house, takes us into a large room which could be divided to create a large master bedroom suite, plus an additional lounge area or further bedroom.

This house is in a good enough condition to be lived in whilst any changes to the property are carried out. It is being offered at a great price and is well worth a visit.
